

Why are crystals needed?

Molecules are too small to be seen individually, but crystals contain trillions of copies arranged into a symmetrical, repeating lattice. Crystallographers use this repetition to help see the 3D shape of the structure.

Designed DNA Crystal

Small pieces of DNA have been engineered to form a nanoscale lattice