

Antibodies

Antibodies search for foreign molecules like poliovirus in the blood. Polio vaccines tell cells of immune system to produce antibodies that prevent infection, and have been effective in limiting the spread of this disease.

